

Collaborative Law

with Mary Ann Bauer, Deborah Lukens and Craig Hyldahl from the New Jersey Collaborative Law Group

Collaborative divorce is known as the kinder, gentler divorce. It is a process whereby the parties agree to not litigate and through a series of meetings work together with their attorneys and other professionals, as needed. The goal is to resolve the matter taking into consideration the unique needs of each family. It is a very cost effective process and completely confidential. The collaborative process has been shown to limit the financial and emotional damage to families engaged in the divorce process.
