Hunterdon County Library

There are many resources for genealogical research in the Library, and this guide tries to point out most of them. As experienced genealogical searchers know, however, no single library or resource is complete, so at the end of this pamphlet are listed other places that may be helpful.

Each book is given a shelf number at the end of its description. A number alone, like 929.1, indicates that the book is in the circulating collection and may be checked out. A number with the prefix R indicates that the book is in the Reference Room, and a number with the prefix R-NJ indicates that the book is in the Jerseyana collection in the glass-enclosed shelves in the Reference Room. All books are indexed, unless it is specifically stated otherwise.

Electronic Resources

Hunterdon County Library subscribes to the online genealogical database AncestryPlus. Because of licensing restrictions, however, it is available only on computer terminals at the main library on Route 12 in Raritan Township, at the North County Branch in Clinton, and at the South County Branch in Ringoes. AncestryPlus has a full file of census images from 1790 forward, military records, immigration records, the Social Security Death Index, many city directories, and Ancestry World Tree, a user-contributed database.

Legal Records

The Library has microfilm of index cards compiled by Phyllis B. D'Autrechy of records at the County Clerk's office and at the Surrogate's office. These microfilms are available for viewing in our Periodicals Room. The microfilms are in four series alphabetized by names, and one series alphabetized by subject matter. Each index card has the person's name in the upper left-hand corner and the record book and page number in the upper right-hand corner. The Library does not have the records themselves, but use of these indexes will greatly speed the search for an ancestor at the Hall of Records or at the Surrogate's Office in Flemington. Court and land records (Reels 1-11, 16-18) are generally at the Hall of Records; the Surrogate's Office probates wills and decides guardianships (Reels 12-15).

Reels 6 to 11 contains names of plaintiffs and defendants in court documents, and was compiled by the WPA around 1940. The documents include:

- Miscellaneous Records (1752-1898), abbreviated "M.R." on the cards

Reel 1 covers the names Abbe to Culver, Morris; Reel 2, Culver, William W., to Hoyt; Reel 3, Hubbard to Opdycke; Reel 4, Oppenheimer to Stout, Anna; Reel 5, Stout, Asher, to Zule.

Reels 12 to 15 index the following records at the Surrogate's Office:

Collective Biographies

These books hold a large number of short biographies, usually of businessmen and civil leaders prominent at the time of publication. Individual biographies are not listed, but can be searched on the catalog terminals. Biographies of ministers can often be found in church histories, and biographies of early settlers can be found in town histories. We have several New Jersey county histories that also have collective biographies. Heritage Quest database also covers many collective biographies.
