A Guide To Locating Primary Source Material

What Is A Primary Source?

- An original record created at the time an historical event occurred. No one has interpreted the facts, added or omitted information. Primary sources include original documents such as the U.S. Constitution, legal documents such as census or marriage records, letters, diaries, interviews and oral accounts, substantial quotations (at least a paragraph, not just one sentence), photographs, paintings and statues. Objects used in the past, such as tools, dishes and clothing are also primary sources.

ELECTRONIC PRIMARY SOURCES

The following three electronic resources may assist you in your search—both are accessible from home and within the library.

- Ebscohost's Primary Source Documents
Select "Masterfile Premier." Click on "Advanced Search." Under "Publication Type" (drop down menu), select "Primary Source Document."
- Daily Life Online
Scroll to bottom right of front page, click on "Primary Documents" under "In the Collection."
- Facts.Com
Under "Special Features" on the right side of the page, select "Historic Documents." You'll then have a choice of either "Primary Source Documents Arranged By Title" or "By Year."

Internet Sites

- 100 MILESTONE DOCUMENTS
Compiled by the National Archives and Records Administration, and drawn primarily from its nationwide holdings. The documents chronicle United States history from 1776 to 1965.
- AD ACCESS
A collection of images from over 7,000 advertisements printed in U.S. and Canadian newspapers and magazines from 1911 through 1955. Subject areas include: radio, television, transportation, and World War II.
- AMERICAN MEMORY Historical Collections (Library of Congress)
A gateway to the Library of Congress's vast resources of digitized American historical materials. Comprising more than 9 million items that document U.S. history and culture, it is organized into more than 100 thematic collections based on their original format, their subject matter, or who first created, assembled, or donated them to the Library. A map collection is included, (the maps are printable), as well as prints, drawings, manuscripts, rare books, sound recordings, and moving pictures.
- AVALON PROJECT AT YALE LAW SCHOOL: DOCUMENTS IN LAW, HISTORY AND DIPLOMACY
Documents range from 18th to 21st century.
- BEEN HERE SO LONG
Numerous slave narratives compiled during the Great Depression by writers who worked for the Federal Writers Project (FWP was part of the New Deal's Works Progress Administration).
- CIVIL WAR WOMEN: PRIMARY SOURCES ON THE INTERNET
From Duke University's Special Collections Library. Includes full-text diaries, letters, photos and prints.
- THE CRISIS OF THE UNION
An electronic archive of documents about the causes, conduct, and consequences of the US Civil War.
- DIGITAL LIBRARY ON AMERICAN SLAVERY
The Digital Library on American Slavery, a cooperative effort of the University Libraries and History Department at The University of North Carolina at Greensboro, provides detailed personal information about slaves, slaveholders, and free people of color. Information gleaned from the petitions includes where, when, and by whom slaves were owned, and where, when, and how free people of color lived. The documents collected by the Project span from the end of the American Revolution to the end of the Civil War and represent the fifteen slaveholding states and the District of Columbia. A rich and valuable source based on the variety of issues ("causes") brought to the courts by the petitioners, raised by the defendants in their answers to suits against them, and issues found in supporting related documents such as slave inventories, witnesses' testimonies, and bills of slave sale.

- EURODOCS
Primary historical documents from Western Europe.
- HISTORY MATTERS
First-person primary documents and guides to analyzing historical evidence for high school and college students as well as teachers of American history.
- MAKING OF AMERICA
A digital library of primary sources in American social history from the antebellum period through reconstruction (19th century). This collection has approximately 8500 books and 50,000 journal articles. The subject focus is education, psychology, American history, sociology, religion, science and technology.
- NATIONAL RECORDS and ARCHIVES ADMINISTRATION
This page contains reproducible copies of primary documents from the holdings of the National Archives of the United States. These sources also contain teaching activity information. One major place to click is "American Historical Documents" either on the right or on the left under "Explore & Interact."
- NEW DEAL NETWORK
Includes a photo gallery of over 5000 images from the Great Depression Era and over 900 documents from the New Deal Era (1928-1955) consisting of speeches, advertisements, letters, articles and administrative papers. There is also information on how to cite sources from this website.
- NJ DIGITAL COLLECTIONS
Created by the New Jersey State Library, contains items like "The Governors of New Jersey 1664-1974: Biographical Essays" and "The Origin of New Jersey Place Names."
- NJ DIGITAL HIGHWAY
Developed by cultural heritage organizations throughout New Jersey, through a grant from the Institute for Museum and Library Services. Organizations involved are the Rutgers University Libraries, the New Jersey State Library, the NJ Division of Archives and Record Management, the New Jersey Historical Society and the American Labor Museum/Botto House National Landmark.
- OFFICIAL RECORDS OF THE WAR OF THE REBELLION
This site contains selected after action reports of the Commanders in the field for major battles of the American Civil War and other selected events.
- U.S. HISTORICAL DOCUMENTS ARCHIVE
Primary source documents from American history starting with Columbus and going through to the Civil Rights Act of 1991.
- USING PRIMARY SOURCES ON THE WEB
From the American Library Association, Reference and User Services Association, History Section. It includes information on what are primary sources, how to find, and how to evaluate them.
- THE VIETNAM CENTER AND ARCHIVE
Includes documents, photographs, slides, negatives, oral histories, artifacts, moving images, sound recordings, maps, and collection finding aids.
- WORLD WAR I DOCUMENT ARCHIVE
This archive of primary documents from World War One has been assembled by volunteers of the World War I Military History List (WWI-L). International in focus, the archive intends to present in one location primary documents concerning the Great War.
- WORLD WAR II: A DIGITAL LIBRARY
Historic government publications from WWII, provided by Southern Methodist University.

MAGAZINES

Articles from these sources only apply if they are first-hand accounts; written by an eyewitness or participant in an event or time period.

- American Heritage Magazine Ceased publication in summer 2007, but began again in winter 2008. Some articles are available on the magazine's website in the archive. In more current issues, there is a section called "My Brush With History." The library's holdings include September 1949-September 2005 (microfilm). There is a print index in the Reference area at the Rt. 12 library covering December 1954 to December 1994. After that date, online access available through Ebscohost Masterfile and Academic modules (September 1, 1990 to current full text) can be used. Go to www.hclibrary.us then click on Electronic Resources.
- American Historical Review Searchable online. The library holdings only include October 1963 through December 1990 (microfilm). Use the Reader's Guide To Periodical Literature index for 1963 to 1988. Online access includes Ebscohost (February 1, 1984 to current full text, with 12 month delay).
- American History The holdings at the Headquarters library at Rt. 12 Flemington are from April 1966 to current (in print), though 1971 and 1977 are missing). Use the Reader's Guide To Periodical Literature index for 1966 to 1988. After that date, online access includes Ebscohost Masterfile and Academic modules (August 1, 1994 to current full text).
